OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Jealous Husband

— By —
MARCIA DAUGHTERY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Tommy Anders going to the dinner tonight!"

Iris stared unhappily at her husband's grim promise as he let in the clutch and the sedan shot ahead. "I don't know."

"Lewis Alerd?"

"Oh, Gregg, what difference does it make? No matter who the extra man is, you'll be jealous of him. Sometimes I think you'd suspect me of making eyes at the Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Gregg parked and alid from under the wheel leaving the motor running. "Going to get some cigarettes and leave you to dream about . . . his smile was tight-lipped. . . who, ever was it. And if I ever catch you with him, I'll know his name!"

Relaxing with a sigh against the seat back Iris thought, Gregg is getting psychopathic. I wonder how much longer I can stand this jealousy business.

She closed her eyes when she heard his brisk step on the street, and remained possum-lidded as they charged down the highway, turning the corner on winning tires and shot westward. "There's no sense in driving so fast," she complained.

"Keep your trap shut," ordered a strange voice.

Iris sat up as her heart leaped into the top of her head. The man at the wheel was young—not over 28—and there were hungry hollows beneath his cheek bones. A pulse was beating in his right temple; his skin was as tawny as the beard line, and below that the darkness of stubble turned cheeks and chin a muddy gray.

"What are you going to do with me?" Iris asked.

"I'm going to take you out the Speedway and dump you. You can walk back."

The Speedway traversed the worst alkali section in the state. There wouldn't be a farmhouse for miles. Iris could feel every individual hair on her head as if she were a cushion sprouting pins.

Then her kidnapper made a most astonishing statement. "I'm sorry to scare you, ma'am, but I had to have this car."

She couldn't speak.

"Had stop day before yesterday," he jerked, "a dish of worms covered the highway. I've a wife and kid, and they gotta eat. Not eligible for relief because I own half interest in a gas shovel."

Iris turned in the seat as the motor stopped. "Listen, when I get to a telephone, I'll have to notify the police. You'll be stopped within two or three hours. But if you want to make an honest living, I know a way."

Something about the eloquent look of his eyes reminded Iris of a beaten dog that hears a friendly voice. "You wouldn't be pulling a fast one?" he gasped.

"No. This is sincere. My husband, who is chairman of the grounds committee at the country club, said they should get somebody to drain the lake and reclaim all the land shot that has accumulated in the sludge. The shot is worth sixty-five dollars a ton, and after all these years of dog poison shooting, there ought to be a great deal. Gregg heard about a cub in the east that did it, and was bowled over by the profit. The club would want twenty per cent. of the income. But you have a shovel, and it seems to me . . ."

Her companion's lower lip hung lax. "Maybe it's a trap," he grunted. "I'm game to find out. If it's O.K. with you, I'd like to talk to your husband tonight."

To prove his belief in her the man added, "You drive back to town." Stepping into the road, he circled the car and got in on the other side. "See, I gave you a chance to leave me if you were just fast-tracking yourself out of a tough spot," he explained.

As they headed cityward, Iris recalled Gregg's final statement: "If I ever catch you with him, I'll know his name!"

If Gregg saw her with this stranger he would shoot first and ask questions afterwards. "Try to believe in me, as I've already proved my belief in you," she began. Swiftly she explained her fear.

The man scrutinized her. "Is your old man right? Have you been cheating?" No use lying to me, you know.

Iris eyes met his. "No," she said. "There's never been any man for me but Gregg. I don't think there ever will be, because I happen to adore the big, lumbering, suspicious lug."

"That's good enough for me," said her companion. "You give me your husband's name and address and I'll show up at his office tomorrow morning. That will give you time to explain things to him, and if he's half as well as you are, I'm the luckiest sucker on earth."

"His cards are in that side compartment."

He slipped one into his pocket. "You can let me out at the next corner, ma'am. Tomorrow morning is a deal."

At nine he walked into Gregg's office.

"If you think you're going to get paid . . .," he belted Gregg.

The man grinned. "I don't want your dirty money. You're going to give me a job to earn my cash honestly. I found out what you wanted to know without dumping her. That woman is four-square, and no mislike, and if you don't give me the cash contract I'll tell her that you figured her alleged boy friend was following your girl last night. Also, that you suspected they were going on a private party after she dropped you at the club, and you hired me to find out. Give, big, give—"

A COUNTRY EDITOR LOOKS AT OUR CANADA

BY JIM GREENBLAT

• Who ever heard of a bonspiel in July? Believed to be the first ever held in Canada, such a midsummer event is scheduled for Nelson, B.C. Thespiel will last four or five days, limited to a 5-inch entry with four participants. The Nelson Civic Centre is co-operating with the Curling Club in promoting the bonspiel.

• Artificial ice, of course, but it should attract lots of attention.

• The Rostown Eagle in Saskatchewan makes this comment: "The sooner transportation to the United States can be found for those 24,000 English brides of American fighting men, the better." A shipload of English girls is worth more than their weight in diplomats in cementing the bond of friendship between the people of the United States and Great Britain.

• This is not built: An auction sale of animals by the Cullings of Toleda, Alta., held at Edmonton, saw cattlemen from Saskatchewan, Alberta and the U.S. pay on the average $1700 each for 28 bulls, each for 11 heifers. Top price was $4300 for a yearling bull, a top heifer brought $2000.

• Aye, well spoken: John Pinder-mores of Kamloops, B.C., speaking at the Chamber of Commerce at Salmon Arm, said: "There are too many 'umbians', British Columbian, Manitobans, Ontariobumians and not enough Canadians in Canada. In this critical days to come, Canada will need all the Canadians she can get."

• Tall stories now come from the Edgar, of Peterborough. The new industry will manufacture shing shingles, rings, screws and bolts in the first unit of operation. It's a post-war industry, will employ 30 workers and spring up all over Canada in smaller centres.

• V-E Day lines culled at random from the weekly press: There can be no question that our victory today was divine intervention. . . The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad. . . Management and labor leaders have a difficult, critical job that requires the maximum of good sense, understanding and well-thought out policies. . . If we can learn to live together and work together in the interests of everyone in peace as in war, there is no danger we need not in vain. . .

Meanwhile Canada has an important job in saving thousands from starvation by sending across the Atlantic all possible food supplies. . . The expressions will vary in word and form, but the spirit of gratitude will be universal. . . The annals of Time know no brighter day than this. . . Fine tribute. At Riverton, N.S., Deacon Richard Delong, at 81, finishes 50 years as Sunday school superintendent of the United Baptist church. On a recent Sunday they held a special anniversary service for the deacon, with a fine original program suitable to the occasion.

• Nova Scotians await with interest the development of the proposed Petrolcoast power project. The report of the engineer is to be on tap any time now. Premier Jones has stated the cost of development might be as high as $60 per horsepower, which would make it cheapest in the world. A proposed tidal project in Great Britain is to cost $880 per horsepower.

• Bits of Canada: Announcement of the death of the first soldier from Gore's Landing, Ont., to die in the War. It came ironically at the conclusion of the V-E Day church service attended by all in the village; he was Roy Thackeray, 20. At Belleville, Ont., a woman walked into a butcher shop, asked for a roast in the refrigerator; told it was dead, whipped out a gun and got it. . . At Beverly, Sask., Tony Schenky's billiard clubbed in the cab of his tractor, drank two gallons of purple gas, and passed out forever. . . At Bowmanville, Ont., a marriage ended Dorothy Cook and George. . . At Ontario again holds the spotlight. At Newmarket, two soldiers were delivered for breaking into a grocery store. One of them, minus a tooth, took a bite on a piece of cheese, later was traced through the streets. The Alaska Highway is in the glugs over the story that Wynne "Scotty" Smith, who hails from Glasgow, sat down at the Pumping Station ordered two dozen fried soft eggs and polished them off at one sitting.

MEAT STRETCHING EXERCISE

One, two, three—STRETCH! It isn't the newest reducing exercise—but this routine of a thrifty housewife planning this week's meals. For stretching budgets, without sacrificing wholesome goodness and appetite appeal in those three-meal-a-day meals is one of the basic and vital jobs of housewives today.

An important culinary trick for stretching the budget—and making thrifty main dishes even more inspiring to the appetite—is to use crisp cereal, that familiar breakfast standby, in a wide variety of main dish specialties, as a delicious extender of protein foods.

The mild, but distinctive flavor of these crisp flakes of corn proves a perfect flavor-complement for all sorts of meats and fish—for meat and fowl leftovers too. The use of prepared cereal as an extender for meat dishes is a time-saver for busy housewives, for corn flakes, crisp and golden brown, roll easily to crumbs of any desired texture.

A tip for good cooks is that the meat and main course for a meal may be served on a platter of crisp flakes, or simply to wrap corn flakes in a clean towel, making sure that all ends of the towel are carefully folded in, and tuck the towel up with a light hand. It is the work of a second to produce crumbs of just the proper fineness.

Firestone

THE ONLY SYNTHETIC RUBBER TIRE

PROVED ON THE SPEEDWAY AT 100 MILES PER HOUR

CAR owners have been wondering just how fast mileage they will give. Firestone decided to put its tires to the supreme test. So a race car was equipped with regular, cast Firestone Synthetic Rubber Tires. The same driver and same orders to the car, and raced for 500 miles around the Indianapolis Speedway under American Automobile Association supervision.

Wilbur Shaw, famous three-time winner of the Indianapolis Sweepstakes, volunteered to make the run. And he averaged 100.1 miles an hour, hitting more than 135 miles an hour on the straightaway. Imagine the punishment those tires took as they pounded over the road, brick and grinding asphalt... equal to 5000 miles of ordinary driving. Yet, in this grueling, tire-torturing test, not a sild or blowout occurred.

Remember this fact when you get permission to buy new tires—Firestone are the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

More Important Now

Mail For Armed Forces Should Carry Complete Return Address

A complete return address on all mail for the armed forces is more important than ever at the present time. The movement of members of the armed forces will increase rather than diminish with personnel changing units, returning to Canada after proceeding from Canada overseas. All these movements complicate the delivery of their mail. Under the circumstances the postal authorities urge that a complete return address be placed on all mail to ensure its prompt return if undeliverable.

The Peace Garden seems a most suitable place for a memorial to a great president and a Good Neighbor of Canada. Situated in the Turtle Mountains of Manitoba and North Dakota, the Peace Garden is close to the geographic centre of the continent, and has been developed by citizens of both Canada and the United States. It was designed as a memorial to the long-standing friendship between the two countries and as a pledge to the continuation of the harmony which has endured for more than a century.

Certainly the International Peace Garden seems an ideal location for the building of a lasting tribute to the man who above all others contributed to the deepening and broadening of that harmony. — Winnipeg Tribune.

One of the things that is causing concern to the National War Finance Committee of Canada is the attitude which seems to be prevalent throughout the Dominion with regard to any further financing due to the termination of hostilities in Europe. The prevailing opinion seems to be that now that the war in Europe is over that no more money will be required to get Canada back to a normal basis. Nothing could be further from the truth. There is a tremendous amount of work to be done. The war in the East has yet to be won. The young men and the young women of Canada have to be brought home and rehabilitated. The manufacturing comcerns which have been devoting all their time and energy in war production have to be reconverted to peace time requirements. All this requires a tremendous amount of money. On Friday, June 29th a provincial wide Stamp Day is to be held and it is the duty of every citizen of this province to show that they still retain their sense of responsibility by buying War Savings Stamps through their local merchants on that date.

Most people resist waking up. They yawn, turn over, cover up, and try to stay asleep. No matter what the hour they are not quite ready to wake up. They look dazed at the alarm clock, and curse the sun for shining in through the window, and yet waking up is a precious experience. There's nothing else like it. To come out of darkness into light, out of dormancy into consciousness, out of inertia into activity. Everybody should look forward to waking up—not only out of sleep, but out of ignorance, bad habits, listless discouragement and many things. Such awakening can take place all day long and every day. Don't resist it with a yawn, don't turn away from it, and don't try to cover up. Be ready for it. Be willing to learn to be active, to go ahead and to be a credit to those who care for you.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YOUR CHILDREN FOR FAMILY ALLOWANCES?

1,200,000 FAMILIES have already registered for Family Allowances. Approximately 400,000 families who are entitled to register and who will benefit, have not yet registered.

Family Allowances cheques will be mailed in July.

If you want to receive your first cheque, register now. If you delay your registration any longer, it may not be possible to deal with your application in time to send you the first cheque.

If you have children under 16 and if your income is under $3,000 a year, you will benefit from Family Allowances. If you have not registered, and intend to do so, please act at once! Family Allowances Registration forms have been mailed to every family. They can be obtained at the nearest post office or by writing to the Regional Director of Family Allowances in the capital of your province.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES AND INCOME TAX

When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child.

Family Allowances cheques will be paid in full every month. But for the last six months of 1945 an adjustment will be made to avoid duplication of benefits. The table below shows the effect of this adjustment and will enable taxpayers to determine the extent to which they will benefit from Family Allowances.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME	Percent by which payments of Family Allowances are reduced in order to prevent income tax credits for 1945.
Not over $1200	100%
Over $1200 but not over 1400	90%
" 1400 " " 1600	80%
" 1600 " " 1800	70%
" 1800 " " 2000	60%
" 2000 " " 2200	50%
" 2200 " " 2400	40%
" 2400 " " 2600	30%
" 2600 " " 2800	20%
" 2800 " " 3000	10%
" 3000 "	0%

NOTE—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the purpose of this table, the amount of Family Allowances payable to a family is the amount of Family Allowances payable to the family in the year 1945.

The BENEFITS: The Family Allowances Act was passed to help equalize opportunities for all children. The monthly allowances will assist in providing medical, dental and nursing services, better food, better clothing and shelter.

Family Allowances are additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

Furthermore, Family Allowances are NOT taxable. You do not add these monthly payments to your total income when computing your income tax.

In the column at left is an explanation of the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax deductions for children. From the table given you can determine quickly the extent to which you will benefit.

REGISTER NOW!

If you intend to apply for Family Allowances but have not already done so, please act at once—in the interests of your children. Remember, the first cheques will be mailed in July, but only to those who have registered and are eligible to receive Family Allowances.

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child	Under 6	6 to 12 (inclusive)	12 to 15 (inclusive)
Under 6	$5.00	6.00	7.00
From 6 to 12 (inclusive)	6.00	7.00	8.00
From 12 to 15 (inclusive)	7.00	8.00	9.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the amount of Family Allowances payable for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.
